Every Woman Who Uses Parisian Sage Has Plenty of It.

Women who desire plenty of beautiful hair with a brilliance and luxuriance that cannot fail to command admiration should begin using Parisian Sage at once.

Parisian Sage will greatly improve the attractiveness of any person's hair in a few days. It will do more; it will rid the scalp of every particle of disgusting dandruff; it will stop falling hair and itching scalp, or money back.

It cools and refreshes the scalp in summer, and removes every trace of the odor arising from perspiration in a few minutes.

Parisian Sage is a daintily perfumed preparation, delightfully refreshing, and free from grease or stickiness. It will make hair grow and prevent it from turning gray.

Sold by druggists everywhere and by the Red Cross Pharmacy for 50 cents a large bottle. Mail orders filled, all charges prepaid by the American makers, Giroux, Mfg. Co., Buffalo, N. Y. "In the time I have used Parisian Sage I have found it very satisfactory, both as a grower and dandruff cure."—Miss Ada M. Bratt, Hoosick, N. Y., March 23, 1910.

Doan's have done great work in Barre. Norman York, 29 Branch street, Barre, Vt., says: "I was subject for six years to attacks of kidney trouble, and I believe the complaint was brought on by a strain. I had pains in my back and was led to believe that my kidneys were out of order by too frequent passages of the kidney secretions. If I stooped to lift anything, it was only with the greatest difficulty that I could regain an erect position. I finally used Doan's Kidney Pills, procured at E. A. Drown's drug store, and their effect was wonderful. The pain in my back soon ceased and the kidney secretions no longer bothered me."

Italians Bring Pellagra.

Pellagra carried by an insect! It is one of the most important of recent scientific discoveries that is announced by Dr. L. W. Sambon, lecturer at the London School of Tropical Diseases, and member of the "field committee" which is now engaged in making a study of pellagra in Italy.

Dr. Sambon, it will be remembered, is the man who helped so importantly to prove the case against the malaria mosquito by his classical experiments in the Roman campaigns, where he, with one companion, spent several weeks in a screened hut on the marshes, merely taking the precaution not to go out at night. Inasmuch as the malaria carrying mosquitoes fly only at night, they suffered not at all, though dwelling in one of the worst known places of the abominable insects.

Accordingly, authority of the highest kind attaches to Dr. Sambon's announcement that pellagra in Italy owes its distribution to a midge, or black fly, nearly related to our own "buffalo gnat." Just as malaria could not exist without the Anopheles mosquito, so likewise does pellagra—a much more terrible disease, resembling leprosy—depend upon this black fly for its transmission and dissemination among mankind.

Such being the case, it will be asked, how does it happen that this dreadful malady, unknown until recently in the United States, has suddenly broken out in many parts of our own country, spreading with alarming rapidity, and threatening to become a plague?

The reason why—it is supposed—is that the Italians, who have been swarming into this country in such multitudes within the last ten years, have brought the disease with them from Italy, where it has long been rife. They have infected our buffalo gnats, which, thereupon biting healthy persons, have communicated the malady to them. It is just like the case of the mosquito sufferer, attacks somebody else and introduces the malaria germ into the latter's blood. From "Pellagra Caused by Gnats," in August Technical World Magazine.
